No one matches our wide range of machined peeps

No one offers a wider selection of precision peeps. We’ve added a 1/4" Large Non-Hooded Aluminum Peep in black, camo, blue, green, red, silver and pink. It’s even lighter than the weight-saving design used for the hooded version at far right. In 1/8" peeps we have a non-hooded original series and Pro Series hooded peeps, both offering a choice of 37 or 45 degree string angles. Molded 1/8" and 1/4" Super Hunter Peeps are for those who prefer to use alignment tubing.

Specialty Archery’s threaded peeps accept apertures that let archers change diameters from 1/32” all the way up to 1/8”. When they’ve got one of the peeps in the string, they can adapt to any lighting condition, any target without having to replace a peep and re-sight the bow. Plus every Specialty peep can be used with a pin-sharpening Verifier or with one of 3 Clarifier lenses designed to sharpen targets through magnifying scopes.

From rests to stabilizers, Specialty can fill your precision archery needs

Specialty now manufactures the Bodoodle rest line and has designed 3 easy-adjust models.

The Timber Rattler II for spot shooters lets you change both launcher stiffness and angle. The Pro Lite II (center) and Timberdoodle II for fingers have support fins that pivot down at shot to smooth the launch and provide added fletching clearance. A new Adjustable V-Bar works with our wide range of carbon rod target stabilizers, including this Elite Stix with its adjustable tuning rod. Feather Lite Hunting Stabilizers come in a range of sizes and patterns, like this 10” Lost Camo model.
